Mak - Shipments Early.

The shipping early of ferrilizers and other necessary spring supplies: will prevent what would probably be a serious shortage in next year's wheat erop, with resulting higher arices for flour and bread. Experts who have compiled statistics show what would be the results moon the national food supply if the spring shipments of fertilizers were not made in time for use this spring.

Aircady American faces a wheat higher prices than ever for wheat and flour before next year's crop is harvested.

Without fertilizers, next year's yields would be decreased from eight to ten bushels per acre on approximately ten million here-The estimate is based upon the findings of the Indiana Experiment Station and other experiments throughout the country, where differences of eight bushels and over per acre have been found in favor of wheat that has been given an L.
